Annual Meeting of Rink Shareholders --Officers Elected

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Arrowwood Curling and Skating Rink Association was held in the Curling Rink on Wednesday, November 25th. While there were not many shareholders present, those that attended the meeting showed a keen interest in the affairs of the Company and were anxious to maintain the standard of sport that the property of the Company is used for.

After the reading of minutes and their adoption the Treasurer's report was given, showing a balance of $673.95 owing on the property. This small indebtedness would easily be taken care of with this year's revenue if financial conditions were normal. And, compared to other associations of this nature, it was the unanimous feeling of the Shareholders that after considering the heavy loss sustained in their recent fire, they were highly pleased with the financial condition of the Company.

The meeting was declared open for re-election of officers for the coming year.

President L. F. Chrestenson and Vice-President Chris. McIrvin, asked to have their names withdrawn as candidates for re-election, as they both felt that after holding office for five years some of the other shareholders should take these respective offices.

The following officers were elected and a vote of thanks given to those retiring:

President—C. G. Taylor.
Vice-Pres.—E. C. Bowman.
Secretary—E. Lewendon.
Treasurer—J. Hesketh.
Auditor—R. H. Bishop.

Board of Directors—By virtue of office, the President, Secretary and Treasurer and A. L. Ingraham, N. Lord, P. Norion, R. Moir and E. Archambault.

F. L. Chrestenson, retiring President, thanked the Shareholders for the co-operation and support given him during the five years he occupied the chair and expressed his assurance that the same would be given the newly elected officers.

After considering other business in connection with the Association the meeting was adjourned.

Henry Wise Wood Again Heads Pool

Henry Wise Wood, chairman of the Alberta Wheat Pool board of directors, was re-elected to that office at a meeting of the directors in the pool office in Calgary, Monday. Lew Hutchinson, Duhamel, was elected vice-chairman, and together with C. Jensen, Magrath and Ben G. S. Plumer, Bassano, will represent the directorate on the central board.

Mr. Wood has been chairman of the pool since its inception in 1923.

Around the Tee

Beginning with our next issue we will endeavor to give a list of all curling games played during the week.

The President vs. Vice-President competition got away to a start last week, but owing to the mild weather play has been suspended.

The two Queenstown rinks had their first games as members of the Arrowwood Curling Club Monday night, Miller winning from Chrestenson 13-6, Large defeating Lewendon 9-7.

The Queenstown boys played splendid games and other rinks are looking forward to some stiff games with the new members.

Ross claims that Monday evening was the first time he had ever curled, but from watching his game we are of the opinion that he is the man who introduced the grand old game to this country. His statement may be true for they say that in some parts of Scotland all babies are given curling stones in place of teething rings. Blood will tell.

The membership committee are anxious that all parties wishing to join the club, hand in their names at once as it will be hard to place them after the square draw starts.

For the benefit of new members we will publish a few of the most important rules in the next week's issue. The most important of these are the precautions that all members must take to preserve the ice. Be sure your rubbers are clean before going on the ice. Once on the ice do not step on the walk or platforms until the game is finished. This is very important as a small particle of dirt may spoil the shot that would win the game.

B.Y.P.S. NOTES

The B. Y. P. S. class social held at Mr. and Mrs. Hall's, was enjoyed by a large crowd of the young people. The evening was opened by a little business meeting, followed by games and stunts.

The lunch consisted of ice cream, sandwiches and coffee. The evening closed by singing "For they are jolly good fellows."

The next meeting of the B. Y. P. S. is to be held at the Miller home on Dec. 10. Mrs. Larsen will be in charge giving a talk on missoins along with a small program given by the young folks.

Everyone makes mistakes, but mistakes may be made the basis of success. They often point the way not to act, the material not to use, the method not to employ. There would be little progress were no mistakes made. The chief harm from mistakes is from covering them up or trying to cover them up, and in failure to profit by them.—The Vent.

Women's Institute Hold Their Annual Party

The Women's Institute entertained their husbands with their annual December party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Taylor on Tuesday evening, December 1st. Bridge was played at nine tables, prizes being awarded to couples, Mr. and G. G. Smith won first prize and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Kemper the consolation prize. A two-course luncheon was served and fancy caps and serpentines added much to the merriment of the evening.

The Calgary Distributors are playing hockey on Saturday night against the Gleichen Gunners, at Gleichen.

Curling Club Fowl Supper a Success

The Fowl Supper put on by the Arrowwood Curling Club in Phillips Hall last Saturday evening was enjoyed by a large turnout.

The first tables were seated about 6:15 and the appetites of all were soon satisfied by a tasty supper which had been adequately arranged by the lady members of the Club. The males showed that they were quite capable waiters.

Mrs. E. Archambault was the holder of the lucky ticket, No. 156, on the curling rocks donated to the Club by Mr. R. R. Saunders.

Arrowwood Council in Regular Session

A meeting of the council was held in the Office on Wednesday evening, Dec. 2nd. The Mayor being absent Councillor Lewendon took the chair. The new Councillor, M. R. Leonard, was present, this being his first meeting since his election.

Why the Brakes

A doggerel on the "Race Horse" contained these lines, "The All-wise Being has so arranged his plan, That he can please most any kind of man.

And he whose taste admits of nothing fast, Can have his behind a slow just ass."

That the Being is alwise is a point gained. Although we sometimes have trouble trying to discover just why certain types of people exist. For they seem to find pleasure in that which is disagreeable to others. But to discover their place and ours is a task worth undertaking.

Today we are thinking more especially of the man who always negatives new suggestions. Of course there is the reactionary to whom a hazy past is always preferable to a vivid present. He has his place but we have not been able to discover it yet. But there is another who, at first appearance, seems of the same mould. But, no, he is not reactionary. He does not live in the past. He lives in the present and is somewhat afraid of the future, that "man from Missouri" type who wants to be shown. So when we come along with our new idea which we are dead sure is just the need of the occasion he immediately applies the brakes as if they were the only useful parts of the machines. You cannot run without them. So when some enthusiastic engine comes along with his new plans, let us thank God for him. We need him and many more like him. But let us also express our gratitude for the one who applies the brakes. He has already saved us from many a wreck.

The Progress of Light

The moon is a reflected light
From God's great orb the sun
They rule by night and rule by day

Since drawing has begun.

And man's inventive genius has

Devised the great white light
Which in the darkest midnight hours

Makes everything look bright

Our forbears read by tallow dip
When sun sank in the West,
How fortunate their offspring have

By brilliancy been blest.

Aladdin lamps with kerosene
And Coleman lamps with gas
Illuminate some cozy homes
Of town and country class,

But tallow dip and candle dim
Are passing with the age,
In urban homes and rural too
The Hydro takes the stage.

To link the past with present years

In real historic grip,
Collect the tallow candles and
The dim light tallow dip.

Health in Winter

During the summer season there are in general, less illness and fewer deaths. Such diseases as the common cold, pneumonia and bronchitis are present throughout the year, but during the summer their occurrence is so lessened that they seem to disappear. The coming of the cold weather, however, finds them returning in force.

It appears reasonable to suppose that this is due, at least in part, to our failure to live as healthy lives in winter as in summer, and so our bodies are not as physically fit in winter as they are in the summertime.

In summer, we spend our time in the fresh air. We are either out of doors or, if we are indoors our windows are open most of the time. In winter many persons cut themselves off from fresh air as much as possible. They never go out unless they are obliged to and they keep their windows and doors tightly closed. Fresh air is just as essential to the health in winter as in summer. According to the weather, bedroom windows should be kept open the year round sufficiently to allow for a gentle circulation of air through the room.

Many persons who exercise regularly in summer, discontinue doing so during the cold weather. The result is that there is a let-down in their physical condition. The big muscles of the body need to be used regularly if they are to be kept able to do their work. They should be given the opportunity for exercise, through work or play, in winter as well as in summer.

Another cause of lowered health in winter is that, together with less exercise, the same amount of food is taken as when the body was being kept active. Over-eating and lack of exercise result frequently in an upset of the digestive system, constipation and loss of health. If bodily activities are decreased in winter, the food intake should be reduced accordingly.

Overheated rooms in winter are responsible for some of the season increase in colds, pneumonia and bronchitis. The temperature of the room should not be over 68 degrees Fahr. There is only one way to keep a proper check on the room temperature and that is by having a thermometer. It alone settles the argument when one person says the room is too hot and another claims it is too cold.

If people would live in winter more like they live in summer there would be less winter sickness than there has been in past years. Keep the body in good health by exercise, bring the big muscles into use each day either at work or play. Do not allow your home to be overheated, sleep in a room that is filled with moving fresh air, dress according to the weather, do not shut yourselves in, but go out as much as possible.

Health can be had in winter by living a healthy life.

Co-operation between Canada's two great railway companies registered an important advance recently when it was officially announced that an agreement had been reached whereby the Canadian National will co-operate with the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian Pacific Steamships in the solicitation of freight, passenger and express traffic for Canadian Pacific ships to and from Canadian Atlantic ports. I Ain't Dead Yet

Time was I used to worry, and I'd sit around and sigh,
And think with every ache I got that I was going to die.
I'd see disaster comin' from a dozen different ways,
And prophecy calamity an' dark and dreary days,
But I've come to the conclusion that it's foolishness to fret,
I've had my share o' sickness, but I

Ain't
Dead
Yet!

I've feared a thousand failures, an' a thousand deaths I've died,
I've had this world in ruins by the gloom I've prophesied.
But the sun shines out this mornin', and the skies above are blue
An, with all my griefs and trouble, I have somehow lived it thru.
There may be new cares before me, much like those I have met,
Death will come some day an' take me, but I

Ain't
Dead
Yet!

National Service Loan Oversubscribed

Montreal, Dec. 2.—The National Service Loan of $150,000,000 has been oversubscribed by 50,000,000, according to unofficial estimates current in financial circles here today.

The following article was written and set in type before the required amount of the loan was reached, but as the article contains valuable information, we are publishing it.

It is confidently felt in high financial circles that all the elements required for success attend the current flotation of a loan for $150,000,000 by the Dominion of Canada, through the Department of Finance. That all the money required by the Government to carry on the affairs of the country, without resort to outside markets will be provided by investors is not questioned. As a sound investment in five and ten year 5 per cent. bonds at attractive price, is one which investors will be glad to obtain, it is felt that it is only necessary to lay the facts before the country and that the rest will be attended to.

Confidence is returning throughout the country after passing through a trying period of two years during which prices of both commodities and securities sank to abnormally low levels. There is serene conviction that the decline has run its course and that the tide already started will be running strongly in the other direction before a great while.

Evidences of a turn in the tide of business for the better, with an accompanying return of confidence, are to be found on every hand. There has been an appreciable recovery in the price of some commodities. That in wheat is of paramount interest to Canada at present time when there is a heavy outflow to overseas markets. This, and a better distribution of merchandize through the country, has been indicated in a substantial recovery in the earnings of the country's two transportation systems. Earnings for the first two weeks of November indicate that trade and commerce is undergoing improvement, when compared with the gross receipts for the corresponding periods of the two preceding months. The figures show that the enormous decreases which have been shown for many months past are now dwindling to almost nothing, and unless all signs fail it will be but a short time before railways will be running well ahead of the tonnage they carried in the past couple of years.

Business people everywhere are in a better frame of mind and looking forward to the resumption of business on a broader scale. Meantime the Government must do some financing and it is to the interests of all concerned to see the flotation of this now internal loan result in a great success.

The extent to which this is the case will be a measure of the public's confidence and a successful outcome will be of incalculable benefit to the maintenance of Canada's credit in the eyes of the world, where it has stood preeminent for many years.

During the past summer a large conversion loan was successfully carried out by Government to take care of maturities, some of which originated in the Great War period. The present loan is entirely different in character, inasmuch as it calls for the supply of new money for the running of the affairs of the country. No appeal could be made for this in the markets of the world, owing to disturbed international exchange conditions. It is up to Canadians themselves to make good this amount and there is no one of the realm of finance who entertains any doubts about the outcome.

That there is a great reservoir of wealth in Canada only waiting to be tapped by an investment offering the very highest grade of security obtainable, indicated by banking and trust corporation returns, which shows large sums held in trust for the public. That these will be released in large volume seems unquestionable. The return of confidence is the only thing that could be depended upon to turn on the tap.

Milk is the enemy of middle age. It strengthens the nerves and supplies essential vitamins. The food value of one quart of milk is equal to:

Nearly one pound of lean meat;

Nine or ten eggs;
More than one pound of chicken;

Nearly two pounds of fish.
The vitamins supplied in milk are: Vitamins "A" necessary to the promotion of growth and in bone building; vitamin "B" providing against nervous disorders; and Vitamin "C" necessary for health development and for maintaining health.

Milk is not fattening. Taken by itself, not gulped nor taken with food, it gives health and vitality without adding an ounce to waste tissue.

Drinking milk freely every day is one of the best ways in which to build up and maintain both physical and nervous energy.

The woman who drinks milk looks and feels younger than one of the same age who does not, at the same time by drinking milk she is physically more attractive as it enables her to remain slim and supple.

The man in his forties who drinks milk has a sense of being fit, and clear headed, his mental keenness is greater, his muscles are more elastic, and can do more and better work with less fatigue.

CANADA'S STRENGTH

A PERIOD of so stringent times have washed out of the fabric of Canadian business some things that were marring the fair sheet of our prosperity --- speculation, excessive personal extravagance, venturesomeness in finance and a tendency to imprudent business expansion. Today Canada's strength is showing itself unmistakably. We have recovered our self-confidence and courage.

Our business men who advertise owe it to themselves and the times to continue their advertising. Advertisements are declarations of purpose; courage and service. An indication of faintheartedness, and of energy in a state of collapse or suspense.

Strength shows itself in action --- in advertising

Editor's Note:—The following article is reprinted from the advertisement of the Mercantile Commerce Bank & Trust Co., of St. Louis, Mo. We again warn you either to read the article through or not to read any of it.

It is a gloomy moment in history. Not for many years—not in the lifetime of most men who read this paper—has there been so much grief and deep apprehension, never has the future seemed so incalculable as at the present time. In our own country there is universal commercial prostration and panic, and thousands of our poorest fellow citizens are turned out against the approaching winter without employment, and without the prospect of it.

In France, the political caldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty; Russia hangs, as usual, like a doom cloud and silent upon the horizon of Europe while all the energies, resources and influences of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be more sorely tried, in coping with the vast and deadly Indian insurrection, and with its disturbed relations in China.

It is a solemn moment, and no man can feel an indifference (which happily, no man pretends to feel) in the issue of events.

Of our own troubles no man can see the end. They are fortunately, as yet, mainly commercial; and if we are only to lose money and by painful poverty to be taught wisdom—the wisdom of honor, of sympathy and of charity—no man need seriously to despair. And yet the very haste to rich, which is the occasion of this widespread calamity, has also tended to destroy the moral forces with which we are to resist and subvert the calamity.

Good friends—let our conduct prove that evil shall come to men who have large hearts, however narrowed their homes may be; who have open hands, however empty their purses. In time of peril we have nothing but manhood, strong in the faith of God, to rely upon, and whoever shows himself a God fearing man now, by helping wherever he can will be blessed and beloved as a great light in darkness.

Now comes the remarkable fact. What you have just read was not written yesterday, about the conditions of today—but is a verbatim reprint of an editorial which appeared in Harper's Weekly on October 10th, 1857.

July of that year was normal. September marked the beginning of depression. The editorial appeared in October. Seventeen months later, in March of 1859, business was back at normal again.

"Of our own troubles no man can see the end." They said it in 1857, and it has been said many times, before and since. Depressions have occurred in American business since the Revolutionary War, and every one has looked as black, seemed unending. Every one has been filled by recovery—and prosperity.
